Center for Health Equity
Works in Progress

Tuesday, September 22\textsuperscript{nd}, 1:30pm – 2:30pm - \textit{lunch provided}
717 Delaware, Room 303
RSVP: enzle009@umn.edu

“Tools for ‘Going to Scale’ with an Evidence-Based Teen Pregnancy Prevention Program: Business Plan, Research Agenda, or Both?”

Presented by: Renee E. Sieving, PhD, RN, FAAN, FSAHM
Professor, School of Nursing & Department of Pediatrics
University of Minnesota

Deputy Director, Healthy Youth Development
Prevention Research Center

\textbf{Renee E. Sieving,} PhD, RN, FAAN, FSAHM is a Professor with the School of Nursing and the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Minnesota. Her research and teaching focus on the application of a positive youth development paradigm to the design, implementation and evaluation of clinic- and community-based interventions to prevent multiple health risk behaviors during adolescence. She directs the Healthy Youth Development - Prevention Research Center, which conducts community-partnered research and disseminates actionable knowledge to promote positive youth development and health equity among young people.

Works in Progress is sponsored by the University of Minnesota Center for Health Equity (CHE). To present your research project or idea at a future seminar, please contact Andrew Enzler at 612-626-3378 or enzle009@umn.edu.

This seminar is supported in part by a grant from the National Institute on Minority Health and Health Disparities (1P60MD003422) to the University of Minnesota Center for Health Equity.