Professor Lantz teaches courses on public health policy and policy analysis methods, and co-directs the PhD and DrPH programs in health policy. Her research focuses on policy issues regarding clinical preventive services, cancer prevention and control, and social disparities in health status over the life course. She was recently elected to the Institute of Medicine, and serves on the board of directors of Whitman Walker Health in Washington, DC. Prior to joining GWU, she was Chair of Management and Health Policy at the University of Michigan, School of Public Health.

Funding provided in part by a grant from the National Institute on Minority Health and Health Disparities (1P60MD003422) to the University of Minnesota Center for Health Equity and by 1UL1RR033183 (PI Blazar) from the National Center for Research Resources to the University of Minnesota Clinical and Translational Science Institute (CTSI). The views expressed by speakers and moderators do not necessarily reflect the official policies of the Department of Health and Human Services.