Write Winning Grant Proposals
Grant Writers' Seminar

Jan. 22, 2015
8:30 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
McNamara Alumni Center

Want to write successful health research grants? Then don't miss "Write Winning Grant Proposals," a day-long seminar that's back by popular demand and hosted by the Clinical Translational Science Institute (CTSI), the Minnesota Center for Cancer Collaborations (MC3), and the Center for Health Equity (CHE). National speaker and grantwriting expert, John D. Robertson, Ph.D., will comprehensively address practical and conceptual aspects important to the proposal-writing process. Space is limited, so reserve your spot today!

Register at ctsi.umn.edu/events

About the Instructor
Dr. John Robertson has been the recipient of competitive extramural funding from both the NIH and non-federal sources, and is an associate member of Grant Writers' Seminars & Workshops LLC. He has published peer-reviewed journal articles and book chapters, has been a reviewer for several biomedical journals, and has served on grant review panels and editorial boards.

Who should attend?
The seminar is designed for clinical and translational researchers, health equity researchers, and CTSI scholars. Content is geared toward NIH, but is applicable to other national funding agencies.

Cost
There is a $75 registration fee. Lunch will be provided.

More info
The seminar is presented by Grant Writers' Seminars & Workshops LLC, and hosted by the Clinical and Translational Science Institute, the Minnesota Center for Cancer Collaborations, and the Center for Health Equity.

Contact
Questions? Contact Andrew Enzler at enzle009@umn.edu or 612-625-2022.